

A large part of our message to returning students will be 'get to know your neighbours' – and to communicate safely and considerately. With many more local residents working from home too, we are keen that students can strike the right balance with their neighbours.

We also understand that Freshers' Week will be a busy time socially for students – particularly for those who haven't actually met their housemates before as many contracts were secured remotely due to COVID-19.

Although we cannot guarantee that there will be no noise disturbances during the first few weeks of term, we are committed to responding swiftly to ~~camp~~ campaigns:

- 160 Student Welcome Team volunteers will provide support to students arriving on campus and socialising in the city.
- The Student Community Warden Team has been expanded to three teams this year, for daytime contact with students in the community.
- The Police, City Council, University and Students' Guild are jointly coordinating an approach to managing students socialising in the city during Freshers' Week.
